Andrus Speaks Before P. T. A.

Mr. George E. Andrus, SAC social science instructor, spoke at the Oct. 17 meeting of the Roosevelt school P.T.A. on the subject, "Allowances for Children."

During the course of his lecture, Mr. Andrus emphasized the importance of conveying to the young child the idea that money is not going to come to one easily but requires much effort and application. He warned that excessive allowances made for discontent among the child's playmates, and also tended to spoil the young boy or girl.

Some of the major points that Andrus stressed were that regular work should be expected from a child who is obtaining an allowance. He also stated that parents should see that allowances are wisely spent. Andrus concluded his speech by stating that allowances in general should be moderate and in line with the sums received by other children in the school and in the neighborhood.

Library Salutes United Nations

The SAC library saluted the U. N. week with various U. N. displays arranged in the library by Miss Ruth Bradley and Mrs. Florence Finley, SAC librarians.

The displays in the library depict the various activities of the United Nations. In the main display case there is a display symbolic of the brotherhood between these nations, and there are other displays arranged throughout the room.

Prominent volumes pertaining to the United Nations and its functions are as follows: Annual Review of U. N. by Clyde Eagleston; The Major Foreign Powers, by Ranny and Carter; Political Handbook of the World by Walter H. Malloy.

The librarians urge the students to become acquainted with the United Nations, its policies, and functions.

Rush Advises Music Profs In Conference

Music teachers from all parts of Orange county attended the recent string conference held on the SAC campus on Oct. 18, under the leadership of Ralph Rush, nationally famous musician and music teacher.

Many practical suggestions were received by the teachers of the county for organizing and carrying on the many activities demanded of community orchestras. The group of teachers were considerably interested in Rush's reference to utilization of individual and group orchestral arrangements and techniques.

The meeting was held in the college cafeteria and many of those in attendance availed themselves of the informal atmosphere to promote lively discussion.

New Shop Equipment Bolsters SAC Vocational Class Program

By BILL POULSEN

Recent acquisitions of new shop equipment are bringing Santa Ana College closer to its goal of an expanded vocational program, according to Harry des Granges, engine class instructor. Courses benefitting as a result of these purchases include the engine class, the auto-body fender and refinishing class, and the machine shop and welding classes.

Prospective automobile mechanics are being greatly aided by the new Allen motor tuneup equipment, used for tuning engines and putting them as nearly as possible back into normal operating condition. The engine class also received some new mechanized honing equipment for taking the taper wear out of engine cylinders.

Installing Hydraulic Car Hoist

A hydraulic car hoist, to be used by the engine class students, is now being installed adjacent to Mr. des Granges' automobile clinic and will replace the make-shift blocks previously used by them in repairing cars. Other special equipment and tools have also been received, and are for the purpose of facilitating specialized repair operations on various makes of cars.

Students in the auto-body fender and refinishing class now may utilize many new specialized body and fender tools, including air hammers, machine buffers, and grinders, and paint spraying equipment.

Students Construct Booth

Arline Pirtle's students in the auto-body class are currently constructing a paint-spraying booth for painting cars. Each student will have to paint one car per semester. According to Mr. Pirtle, all new ideas of proven value in the trade are considered for inclusion in the course. The class is planned to equip students for employment in local automotive shops.

Mr. Royce Cornett's welding class is doing most of the work in constructing an addition to the machine shop building, to be used as a foundry unit for making aluminum castings.

Initiation Rigors Holding Sway; Formal Ceremonies Next Week

As informal initiation continues today on the SAC campus, plans are being made by both men's and women's service clubs for formal initiation ceremonies to be held early next week.

This year the rigors of "Hell Week" have been cut down to one day, continuing the trend toward shorter initiation periods which began last year when the traditional initiation week was cut to three days.

The men's clubs, Brotherhood of Bachelors, Buccaneers, Los Gauchos, and Los Caballeros, concluded their pre-rush dinners last week and issued bids to prospective pledges. Today pledge masters are issuing orders which are being carried out by pledges who wish to avoid further punishment. Formal investitures will be held next week.

Pledges of the women's clubs, also enduring the initiation ordeals are looking forward to their formal initiation ceremonies to be held Monday, Oct. 23. Members of the Sisterhood of Spinsters will hold their formal celebration in the Officers' club at the El Toro Marine Base. Las Gitanas will hold their formal dinner at the home of their president, Laura Perez. Barbieri's Chesa Grisehunda in Laguna Beach will be the scene of the Piloteers' formal dinner and initiation and the Yorba Room of Buffums' in Santa Ana will be the scene of the Las Meninas affair.

College Ensemble Plays In County Legion Meet

The Santa Ana College orchestra ensemble, conducted by SAC instructor Douglas LaMont, will perform before the country-wide meeting of the American Legion Auxiliary this Tuesday at the Legion Hall in Santa Ana.

Virtuosos by Charles Brattain playing both bass viol and the guitar, Waldon Leecing playing both the piano and the organ, and Coral Sheffield playing string bass and the accordion will be featured at the meeting.

Surveyors Plan Future Highway

The SAC surveying class is anticipating its first venture in staking out a highway under the instructions of Harold A. Moomaw, Engineering chairman.

With the preliminary work near end, the surveying class is preparing for its big project of staking out a highway. This work is to be done in the Irvine park area.

This class consists of: Tausto Lambert Aleantar, Jesse A. Beanblossom, Richard L. Brock, Elton Duane Denner, Wilber G. Getty, Erwin Gerald Gjerde, Irwin Kranjler, Norman Lee Harvey, Robert E. Levin, Robert Kenneth Littell, Stanley Hoard Lomax, Kenneth D. Morrison, Douglas C. Palmer, Dale Varner Sanford, John Howell Siegel, John Frank Westerhold and Quentin T. Woods.

Ex-El Don Head Becomes Partner Of Weekly Paper

Sam Strange, SAC journalism and English graduate of 1948, recently became a partner in The Nauvoo Independent, a weekly newspaper published in Nauvoo, Illinois, stated Carl Venstrom, SAC journalism instructor today.

While at SAC Sam Strange was editor of El Don, college newspaper, and active in Tavern Post, college literary magazine, and was also an honor student. At the All College Banquet held each spring before graduation, he was presented by Carl Venstrom, journalism head, an El Don key which distinguished him as one of the two outstanding journalism graduates of that year.

After completing his work at SAC, Strange transferred to Occidental College where he received his Bachelor of Arts degree in English this spring. While studying at SAC, Strange used to return to his home town of Nauvoo where he worked each summer on The Nauvoo Independent.

'Glass Menagerie' Slated At Faculty Dinner Party

SAC faculty members and clerical workers will have a staff dinner tonight at 6 p. m. at the college cafeteria, followed by attendance at "Studio A" for a special performance of "The Glass Menagerie."

The staff party is an annual affair held each fall. "The Glass Menagerie," produced by the SAC drama department, will complete a four night run this evening.

The Santa Ana College Band, shown above at the recent Long Beach game, will appear for tomorrow night's game with the USC Frosh in full strength of thirty-five pieces complete with their new uniforms.

Your reputation is taking a beating. When that happens, your college also loses face. This, in turn, decreases Santa Ana's prestige as a town. Your folks may then not feel quite as proud to claim residence in Santa Ana.

So, this is serious. When visiting students or faculty members from other schools, officials from out of town, or visiting private citizens wander over SAC's attractive and well-cared-for campus, their impressions usually remain favorable, until, that is, they unfortunately enter the Student Union lounge.

Here, their dismayed eyes might frequently encounter a scene replete with disaster. Only mangled chairs and tables might remain, that can be hardly recognized from their sad remnants as being formerly of trim and chrome-like beauty. If the visitors do happen to find one chair remaining intact, and sink into it to recover from their shock, they do not remain seated long, if any strength remains to them.

They rise, if they can overcome the adhesive force of gummy spilled cokes. This is a move which they should have thought over longer, however. Unless very lucky, they may slip on a half-eaten sandwich, and fall into a cup of coffee left by some brilliant SAC student. However, they can wipe off their clothing almost as good as new, because there are, as often as not, numerous napkins, sandwich wrappers, and abandoned lunch bags laying around on the floor.

And the deplorable truth is that some SAC students are not behaving here at the college as they have been taught all their lives to behave at home. Male SAC students can achieve that "casual campus look" so featured in "LIFE" and various college style magazines, without putting dents in the Student lounge tables with their heels, while lounging back in their chairs. They can kill a fellow student whom they happen to dislike without using one of the costly chairs to twist around his frame. When seated, a sufficient coordination can be attained so that swinging feet do not desecrate the tables or chairs.

SAC coeds can help, too. When they finally interest a fellow enough to get him chasing after them, they can either stop running themselves, or lead him over the delicate installations of some other campus, not here. Perhaps that will help to save our precious furniture from being knocked over, scratched, and broken during the chase.

The "El Don" respectfully refers you to its last issue. There you will find a report of two hundred dollars being spent to replace furniture damaged by students. This is one item helping to keep Associated Student Body tickets at their much-bemoaned high price.

The Student Body Executive Board is thus proclaiming, in its current intensified campaign on care of the Student Union, that eating in the lounge section must be prohibited, and that horseplay destructive to the furniture shall henceforth be reserved for a handy stable. The Board also exhorts that a condition be maintained conforming to the definition of "clean."

Introducing By JANE LINDEMUTH

Nathaniel "Nate" Chroman, alias "Meatball," 21 year old sophomore student of English at Santa Ana College, took up the pen during his first aptitude test and has stuck to it ever since. "I have a very inclusive collection of the prettiest rejection slips issued," Nate wryly smiles.

Although born in the "windy city" of Chicago, Nate considers himself practically a native of California. He lived in Santa Monica for several years and it was there that he received the "Meatball" moniker. "A notorious gangster known as Benny the Meatball ran a pool hall near my home. When he was 'rubbed out' by the mob, a rumor got around that I sent flowers to his funeral," Nate explained.

While in Santa Monica, Nate and a group of his friends appeared in a motion picture produced by Ida Lupino and called "Never Fear." When the film was completed, the boys were invited to Miss Lupino's home for dinner. According to Nate, the food was good and Miss Lupino was even better.

Now a resident of the "exclusive suburb of Boyle Heights" in Los Angeles, Nate is a graduate of that district's Roosevelt high school where he was active in journalism. Last year he was a member of the El Don staff.

At Santa Ana College, Nate is "Time" and "Life" magazine representative on the campus (get your subscriptions from him!) and is an active member of the YMCA and the Tavern Tattlers, SAC literary society.

"As long as you're writing about me," Nate laughed, "I have a 1949 model wheelchair which I would like to trade for a 1950 automobile. The wheelchair is convertible and I hope the car will be the same." Good luck, Nate.

Wheatley Builds School Band 50 Piece Unit Eventual Goal

"The college band has been constructed this year with the hopes of stimulating a small degree of the great potential spirit lying idle at SAC." This statement not only reveals the purpose of the new SAC band but also gives us a view of the drive behind Mr. Gordon Wheatley as he has built the band from a few stragglers into a thirty-five piece organization.

By first contacting all students with musical ability, then creating an interest and finally holding their enthusiasm, Mr. Wheatley has moulded the band along lines which show promise of great things to come.

Band Practices

The band has demonstrated its faith in Mr. Wheatley's guidance by turning out for practice at seven every Monday, Wednesday and Friday morning, and each Wednesday afternoon after school. The morning practices are held in the music building while the afternoon session is held at the Municipal Bowl for the purpose of drill in formation and work on new half-time stunts.

New Uniforms

New uniforms for the band which were scheduled to arrive several weeks ago have arrived in time for this week's game.

Fifty Pieces Is Goal

Although the band has reached a strength of thirty-five pieces which is considerable improvement over last year, the goal gleaming in Mr. Wheatley's eye is fifty pieces. If it is possible to build a fifty piece band out of a student body of six hundred it seems only reasonable that out of that same student body there should come enough school spirit to make SAC one of the greatest campuses in the country.

Camera Pool Forms

A camera pool, for the purpose of promoting snapshots for the Del Anco, SAC yearbook, is being formed, announced Mr. Ernest Crain, snapshot advisor for the yearbook, today.

Cameras will be checked out to students going on special trips. The yearbook staff will furnish all film used and will provide for the developing and printing.

Students who wish to participate in the pool are urged to bring their cameras to room F51 this week.

Las Doncellas Is Honor Club

First formed as a committee under the AWS, Las Doncellas last year became a full-fledged honor hostess club, corresponding to the Black Knights.

Membership in the club, which ushers at productions of the College Players and entertains school guests, has been set at no more than thirty members.

To become a member of the club, a women student must have shown leadership in her first semester at college, must be carrying at least ten units and must maintain a "C" average in her studies.

Since the president, Audrey Russell, has not returned to school this semester, the vice-president, Edwina Cox, will direct the club. Working with her will be Joanne Clark, vice-president, and Carol Kern, secretary-treasurer.

Miss Agness Todd Miller, dean of women, is the faculty advisor for this club.

Spearfishing Enthusiast Merker Advocates Formation Of New Club

Plans to organize a spearfishing club at Santa Ana College were announced today by Ronnie Merker, a student at SAC who has long pursued the sport which is now gaining increasing popularity in Southern California.

This summer, Merker, along with fellow underwater fishing enthusiasts, partook of their favorite sport off the coast of Mexico. Merker reported that the trip was a prolific success and spiritedly described the big one that got away.

Must Be Good Summer

Although he has recently acquired a $25 speargun, Merker claims that underwater fisherman can derive enjoyment and catch fish with far less expensive equipment, the prime requisite being swimming ability.

First National Meet

Last Sunday Merker attended as a spectator the first National Underwater Spearfishing Championships held at Victoria Beach under the auspices of the Laguna Chamber of Commerce. Participating in the event were clubs from Riverside, San Diego, Los Angeles, and Laguna but none from Santa Ana.

Merker asks that students interested in organizing an underwater spearfishing club contact him or drop a card in his box at the administration building.

Something New's Been Added; Woman Enrolls In Ag. Class

Something new has been added. With the enrollment of Doris Jeffries, 20 year old dark-eyed, dark haired Santa Ana College freshman, the landscape gardening course taught by Paul E. Andres, agriculture instructor, is receiving the woman's touch.

Asked how she likes being the only woman in class, Doris said, "I feel sort of outnumbered." Doris' greatest ambition is to be allowed to do the gardening at her home. "They don't trust me yet. They have the idea that I can't tell a flower from a weed." That idea will be remedied soon if Instructor Andres has anything to do with it.

Identification of various shrubs and flowers is not the only subject studied by the landscape gardening students. As their fall semester project, the students are planning walks and shrubs to surround a theoretical home and the completed plan, drawn on graph paper, will be designed so as to contain plants suitable for Southern California garden conditions. Before the semester is over, the class has plans for visiting various plant nurseries and parks to gain familiarity with the various ornamental shrubs and their growing habits.

Plant propagation (the growing of plants) will be studied more thoroughly during the spring semester. Both the college lathe house and the propagation house will be used at that time to aid in the practical study of plant growing conditions.

Good will among the countries represented was reflected throughout the program. Singers, dancers, and guitarists entertained the throng of approximately 200 guests with Spanish music. Fletcher Bowron, Mayor of Los Angeles, was an honored guest.

Mrs. Consuelo Willard Seymour, Spanish instructor, and Miss Genevieve Humiston, registrar, were guests this week of the Spanish Consul of Los Angeles at a banquet commemorating Columbus' discovery of America. The banquet, held in the Crystal Room of the Beverly Hills Hotel, was attended by representatives from over twenty Latin-American countries.

Men students being initiated into the Brotherhood of Bachelors include Dean Gautschy, Stan Mansfield, Peter Allen, Robert Bjorklund, Francis Ferguson, Jim Missildine, Bill Pickering, Charles Rockwell, Ronald Sands, Elmer Thomsen, Robert Wylie, and Ronald Wilson.

Moonlight swimming was featured when the Spinsters held their acceptance dinner at the home of Jane Lindemuth, vice-president. According to Nan Weir, president, and Miss Lota Blythe, advisor, Spinster pledges are Marie Alexander, Dona Meuser, Mary Lou Doran, Joan Bard, Celia Lussier, Antoinette Heaney, Nada Phillips, Diane Webb, Janet Schermerhorn, and Marilyn Travis.

1,578 Students Enrolled at SAC

A total enrollment of 1,598 students at Santa Ana College for the fall semester was reported today by Genevieve Humiston, registrar, and Stuart Carrier, Evening Director.

An examination of the enrollment in the Day Session reveals that the freshmen outnumber the sophomores and the men outnumber the women two to one.

The following is a breakdown of the enrollment in the Day Session.

Freshmen Men	242
Freshmen Women	117
Post Grad. Men	22
Post Grad. Women	11
Special High School Students

Men 41
Women 11

The total enrollment in the Evening Division, to date, is 906 students. Although enrollment in evening classes for credit has ended, students may still enter classes for audit. Two new classes, that have recently been added in the Evening Division are Political, Finance and Product Distribution.

College Instructors Guests of Consulate

Mrs. Consuelo Willard Seymour, Spanish instructor, and Miss Genevieve Humiston, registrar, were guests this week of the Spanish Consul of Los Angeles at a banquet commemorating Columbus' discovery of America. The banquet, held in the Crystal Room of the Beverly Hills Hotel, was attended by representatives from over twenty Latin-American countries.

Good will among the countries represented was reflected throughout the program. Singers, dancers, and guitarists entertained the throng of approximately 200 guests with Spanish music. Fletcher Bowron, Mayor of Los Angeles, was an honored guest.

In the instruction of native Spanish dances, outside entertainers were presented. Bob Chew was in charge of refreshments served at the conclusion of the evening.

Dons Out To Spoil Undefeated Frosh Record Tomorrow Night

Expected to be a battle of brawn against brawn, Coach "Bill" Cook's college eleven tangle with the undefeated University of Southern California Frosh gridsters tomorrow night at 8 p. m. under the lights of the Santa Ana Bowl.

The Trojan yearlings boast season victories of 37-6 over Chaffey and last week downed the favored California Freshmen 28-20. Coach Cook's Dons on the otherhand uphold a record of two wins, one tie and one loss.

Quarterback Duel

Tomorrow night's fracas promises to be a quarterback duel between SAC's ace signal caller Ray Willsey and the Trojan's deceptive quarterback Jim Contratto. Both backs are veterans at faking and heaving the pigskin.

According to Coach Cook the Dons will be in outstanding physical condition for the tussle with halfbacks Hershel Musick and Bob Umphress probably being off the Don injured list and expected to see plenty of action against the junior Trojans. Although bothered with a sore ankle, star halfback George Brancato will probably be among the SAC starting eleven.

Back In Action

Wearing his shoulder strapped up, Milton Lewis, 210 pound tackle from Hanford, is back in action to bolster the Don defense, but Bob Finnegan, returning veteran guard, is definitely out of action for the season after being operated on this week for a bad knee cartilage, and James Mitchell, tackle will be out of the Frosh tilt because of a back injury.

During the week the Dons worked on some new plays to pull on the Frosh who use mainly the "T" formation. Cook plans to throw everything in the book at the yearlings by using single wing, split "T" and spread formations.

Five Battles Scheduled For Weekend Grid Tilts

Southern Cal's two year colleges march into the thickest slate to date this week end and the menu bares some delectable dishes with intersectional and international flavoring.

Internationally, it will be Mexico City against Pasadena CC in the Rose Bowl Friday night. Intersectionally, it will be the San Angelo Texans against Compton's JC Tartars.

Brancato Sparks Circuit Victory Over Riverside

Sparked by the sensational jaunts of fleet footed halfback George Brancato, the Santa Ana Dons clawed the Riverside Tigers 47-18 in their 1950 Eastern Conference debut on the latter's turf last Friday night.

Avoiding the jinxes of Friday the 13th, Brancato scored three touchdowns, racing 39, 49 and 39 yards respectively to hit paydirt. The Santa Anans scored two touchdowns in the first stanza to get off to an early lead and after being held scoreless in the second quarter the Dons broke loose in the last two frames scoring 13 and 20 points respectively.

Besides Brancato's brilliant runs, the highlight of the evening was when second string quarterback Danny Prall pulled a bootleg play and raced 40 yards for a touchdown before the Tigers could figure out who had the porkhide. Lee Searcie, SAC place kicker, booted five out of seven conversions while punter Floyd Strain was instrumental in setting the Tigers back with his fourth down punts.

Using his 210 pounds, Bob Reid scored two TDs for the locals on fullback plunges and scatback Al Chan in the final seconds of the fracas collected the Dons last tally. Using a passing attack, Bob Adams, Bill Whitaker and Bob Phillips scored for the Tigers.

Co-ed Hoopsters Collect Two Wins

Two victories were scored by the W.A.A. basketball team last Wednesday, when they defeated Mt. San Antonio J. C. and East Los Angeles J.C. The games were held on the East Los Angeles campus.

Playing in the first game with a score of 24-14, were Jean Weltz, Betty Lancaster, Agnes Pomento, Leola Lord, Gay Keeran, Marilyn Webb, and Mary Vernon. In the second game against East Los Angeles the score was 32-8, with Pat Adams, Jean Spielman, Helen Walker, Aurora Valles, Patsy Paten, Shirley Drake, and Jean Engle playing.

The next game will be with Mt. San Antonio on Nov. 8. A tennis match is being planned with Orange Coast on the 24th of Nov.

DEFENDING CONFERENCE CROSS COUNTRY TAM—OEt to gain 1950 honors this season are Coach Ward's cross country squad who will compete in the national AAU meet tomorrow at Santa Barbara. Distance Pacers Sting Hornets; Cage Prospects Enter Santa Barbara AAU Meet Start Practicing Inspired by a clean sweep over Fullerton Tuesday, the Santa Ana College cross country squad will trek to Santa Barbara tomorrow for the annual AAU four mile cross country meet.

Although unable to go because of a football game Saturday night, Coach John Ward, cross country mentor, will send a team of five Dons plus two or three alternates to compete in the invitational grind. According to Ward he is still undecided as to the full team he will send to the meet.

The Dons recently copped fourth place team honors in an AAU meet held on the rugged Mt. San Antonio course and according to Ward they have improved greatly since then. Very few two year colleges will enter tomorrow's meet and so the Dons will be competing in the straight division and vie with such schools as UCLA and USC among others.

Last Tuesday at Fullerton the Dons copped the first five places to sting the Hornets 15-40, low score being the winning factor in all cross country meets. Leonard Thornton was again the first Don to cross the tape followed by teammates Frank Mendez, Howard Brubaker, Duane Anderson and Raul Hernandez. Winning time for the two and one-quarter mile course was 12 minu. 10 sec.

Brilliant End Play Gains Sitton Honors

Displaying some outstanding end play both on offense and defense in the Riverside tussle, 205 pound Charles Sitton was voted the fourth Don of the Week from the results obtained from the weekly balloting at Vandermost's Clothing Store.

Hailing from Santa Ana, Sitton is 6' 3" tall to qualify as one of the tallest Don ends. Attending Santa Ana high school he lettered in football and entered as a social science major in Santa Ana College this semester.

Although not scoring, the speedy end was partially responsible for the Dons mighty defense. So far this season George Brancato, Danny Prall and Ray Willsey have received the weekly honor. Any Santa Ana College student that has a ASB ticket is eligible to cast their ballots each week following the Dons football skirmishes.

Although basketball season is a month away, Armand 'Doc' Cure, SAC basketball mentor, and all other casaba coaches of the Eastern Conference have their prospective team members practicing and rounding into shape.

As several court men at SAC have also found time to cavort on the gridiron, the basketball team is not at full strength and will not be for some time as organized team play cannot begin until the first of December.

At the present time there are thirteen men practicing several afternoons a week at the Santa Ana high school gym. Pete Smith, Wayne Elliot, Bob Hart, Gil Luna, Bob Denhart, Neal Brown, Noel Wright, Stan Caywood, Jim Mitchell, Joe Balsley, Harry Beney, Jack Flanagan, and Jim Maddox comprise the thirteen.
